EXETER DAY SCHOOL

February News

Happy Valentines Day!

From the Principal

As you know it is cold and flu season.

We have had children out with the common cold as well as fevers and stomach bugs. Please keep children home who have runny noses, coughs or fevers. This type of illness passes easily amongst young children.

The vast amount of snow this year is making our parking lot smaller and the street narrower. It is very dangerous for people to be walking down Marlboro St. If you must walk to pick up your child please come early so that you are not walking among moving traffic. It is nerve wracking for the drivers as well as the walkers.

There will be no Babes on Stage on Friday, Feb. 20th.

Mr. Lassonde has a 12:25 piano lesson spot free on Tuesdays.

We will not be taking our "floating in-service day" scheduled in our 2008-09 calendar in order +to make up a snow day.

Out of the Mouths of Babes

Ms. A was talking about the groundhog seeing his shadow. A girl asked, "What happens if he comes out at night?"

The children went to Gymnastics for a field trip. A girl walked half way down the balance beam and announced, "I'm running out of balance!"

A girl was drawing during free choice time. She went over to Mrs. Anderson and showed her a handprint that she had traced, "It's a footprint," she announced. "I made it with my hand!"

Mrs. Daigle had taken off a day in late January. When she returned to school a boy said, "Hello Mrs. Daigle, how was your Christmas?"

A child shared a family picture during "Show and Tell," There was a beer bottle on the table in the picture.

Her teacher asked about it. "That's my Daddy's beard!" she was told.

A girl got out of the car at drop off time with a beautiful pink cap with Minnie Mouse ears and a sparkling veil hanging from the back. I let the girl out in the car behind her. She took one look at her and said in awe, "That's the decorationist hat that I ever saw!"

A girl's mother was a little late picking her up. The girl asked Mrs. Anderson where her mom was. She was told that she may be stuck in traffic. The girl said, "No, traffic is just for dads!"

Ms. A's class was getting ready to go home. A boys started to sing, "It's raining, it's boring!..."
